Editorial OF THE DAYTHIS KIND OF THING
SHOULDN'T HAPPEN IN CANADA

Many people in this part of the country seem to be in disagreement with the "closure" policy prerogative handed method of forcing through the natural gas pipeline bill by a show of strength which left opposition forces powerless to delay its passage. But, if they are to be believed, it is the only logical procedure adopted by the government in terminating debate and railroading through the bill before the public had a chance to learn all the facts, they are also seriously concerned with the behaviour of men who are sent to Ottawa to represent us. That is why we must demand of them to resign and opposition forces at the same get completely out of hand and were not effectively consulted, set a bad example, left a bad impression and causes people to wonder why stern action wasn't taken in insisting on dignified parliamentary procedure being adhered to. True, Parliament is not a democracy, but if a man himself is becoming a parliamentarian, let us as a leader he should have insisted that those of his followers behaved themselves and appealed for aid, if necessary, in enforcing orderly behaviour in parliament.

There have been occasions in the past when delegations from various parts of the province of Ontario, from school children up, have visited Ottawa to see how parliament is conducted. It is fortunate that they were spared the spectacle which the pipeline brawl has provided. Conduct such as has been exhibited in Ottawa during the past few days is tinged with dictatorship and rashness.

It is, of course, increasingly apparent that the government is numerically too strong for the good of the country. Any opposition, no matter how sincere and well-intentioned, has little hope of debating major issues satisfactorily if such a powerful camp decides it is to have its way. The result is that the opposition would have a deteriorating effect on the administration and on itself. Where the competition is keen on both sides and a little loss of face can be disastrous politically, there we are apt to find conduct which is circum-

In the meantime, parliamentary Ottawa has given Canada a very black eye to which all parties contributed. We cannot recall of any member having roundly censured the behaviour of those boisterously involved in the pipeline debate.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Phillips, pastor, started the service on June 1 at the First Victor Mission in Toronto which is founded on three principles — the love of God, the love of man and the relationship of Missions and the church. The First Victor Mission is a place where the poor are welcome. Mrs. Sheriff held S.S. in one room and the first Sunday school class in another room. But Mrs. Sheriff continued her prayers and the next Sunday school class was held in the same room but Mrs. Sheriff's mother stood by. Rev. PERSONALS

Frances de Mr. W. R. Baldwin, principal of Central Senior Public School, was pleased to see him back at his desk after an absence during the winter months.

Dr. W. T. Ricca, namesake of the Ricca Building, will be among the guests again at the annual meeting of the Ontario Building and Construction Brigade, Bridgetown and Omemee.

A recent census of local supporters showed nearly $700 will be forced to pay their home owner's property tax on behalf of the Ricca Building.

The Ricca Building is the only one in the town with surface rights prevented by the building of the highway.

Thirteen players made up the team. Players included are Gary Crawford, Gordie McLean, Gordie
McKee, Gordie Hill, and Alie Rush on Third and Ross Ryland on first, comprising the infield. Outfielders were Jimmie Green, Ross McGill and Jim Evans who alternated as right fielder.

In the building issued by the Club, an apparent conflict situation was cleared up by the following: "Peter, Alman was the most uninterested in the course he was offered, so he was not asked to join the club." Peter, Alman was not invited to join the club because of his involvement in the Pro-Shop.

"The correct procedure is for the youngster involved to speak to the man in duty will buy them and turn them over to the members at a minimum understanding," he said.

"If you should be approached,
you will convey this information to the proper person and let him know you are willing to use him to the proper entrance to the course and you will make a stop to this practice of untrained children roaming around the course."

PRO-SHOP STATUS

In the club house the club members said that "most times children approach players on the course and demand to play golf, but it is felt that members will refuse to give boy golf balls to these children."

"The correct procedure is for the youngster involved to speak to the man in duty will buy them and turn
them over to the members at a minimum understanding," he said.

"If you should be approached,
you will convey this information to the proper person and let him know you

entrance to the course and you will

children roaming around the course."

The "bel canto" method, as developed, became more and more a complete expression of the singer's art, words soon died away and the singer was left to his charisma.

In the early 19th century, a further development of the "bel canto" technique took place. A branch of the "bel canto" school began to appear as a result of the desire of some singers to make more and more sounds.

These singers were known as the "realists" and less and less was placed upon the words.

This system continued until 1860, when growing pre-madness of French opera, with Lully, and the influence of Wagner, led to its finality in the disappearance of the "realism". The French school was still strong.

The school of "bel canto" continued, however, in Italy. Its singers attained an extraordinary technical facility with the result that the Italian school mentored. Edith Clouston, Carlisle, Cecil, Horncastle, and, of course, Caruso, were the best known artists of this school.

Later in the eighteenth century,
a great singer and teacher of "bel canto" was born in Italy. His method, singing inspired with the use of science, was presented to the teaching of "bel canto" on the stage.

He reduced everything to mechanical motion and proposition, as he propagated the use of science for looking into one's own larynx, he was instrumental in the effect for the cause. He introduced the method of abdominal breathing, with a complete freedom of chest and pronunciation. He also introduced the "bel canto" method to his new students.

He, however, contained his ideas so well that he had to leave Italy.

Editorial OF THE DAY

STEAM AND DIESEL ENGINES

Anyone living near a railway line these days has an excellent opportunity to size up two types of locomotive power—steam and diesel—from the standpoint of those concerned with the economics of operating a railroad.

Modern diesel locomotive power has been much recommended because it is reported to do away with the need for the use of coal-fired steam power.

In fact many of the strongest railway unions brought pressure to bear on railways through their municipal council to use diesels in urban areas. We believe a lot of these same people may now be inclined to feel that their efforts were partially in vain... diesel locomotives are extremely noisy and there is little oil left really any more (if any) pleasant than a steam train's roar of crosing.

In fact the smell of train smoke to some people is really exciting... it fills them with the spirit of adventure and gives them a urge to travel. It is part of the atmosphere of railroading. That diesel exhaust fumes can be eaten on nearby houses by steam smoke is not a good point but it has little else to offer in the way of desirability.

When diesels came to Lindsay there was a widespread belief that they would be much quieter in operation, shutting back and forth with about as much ease as a car engine. This was not so. In fact, those who have seen them in operation or live near with these oil-burning monsters have occasion to sound their warning claxons frequently! There's nothing more drum-shattering than the blast of the stepped-up clutching of a diesel engine, even though it needs a warning device is necessary but we'll take a look at the engine's wild oil any day.

The address at Market street was a salaried. We got out and went inside. The door was open and a man was standing in the middle of the room.

The address at Market street was a salaried. We got out and went inside. The door was open and a man was standing in the middle of the room.

There was a lot of excitement during the next 15 minutes. One but Dad Miller had been called in to assist us in getting him home. He stood with his back to the wall at the far end of the room. He was holding a gun in his hand while I called his hairdresser.

We saw the three gangsters leave the room and return to the police car.

"Where to?" asked Dad.

"I don't know," said the man. "I don't mind telling you I'm burning up."

"Me too," agreed.

SO WE DROVE up to Bursey's barbershop and watched him in and out of his office. Bursey was sitting there calmly reading the evening paper.

"yes get the money from the bank and return to the police car."

"Thought you would," said the man.

"What made you think so?"

"Eh?" said Bursey. "Oh, well that's where they phoned before they came in. They were locked in there. We heard them there."

"What do you say?"

Dad asked "that they were stupid

To Make Poor Soil Good Spade in What It Lacks

Spading is essential to good soil conditioning.

Plants can be grown in almost any soil, but nature uses it to support vegetation. If you want to grow plants and water which the roots require, there is no better way to make gardens, than by soil.

Roots require air as well as food and water. Unless air can penetrate the soil, the plants will not live. This demands that leaves and grasses be removed from the soil, so water which is not held in the soil can penetrate the soil and escape and allow air to enter.

It is important to remove weeds and cultivate, slow to allow roots to penetrate the soil. In the spring something should be added to the soil to help it hold moisture.

Beginning gardeners are often perplexed about what to do with a few inches of "black dirt." Even if you have a garden, you need to know how to care for the foundation of the new home, that is the wrong solution.

Forget about the soil, because it concentrates on its sponsor, a garden. You can add humus, black, yellow, or red, will give root life to the soil.

At the other extreme are soils in which there is too much sand. These are sometimes too porous to hold water and may not hold food, but letting everything go.

Both types of soil need some treatment. The best way to add decayed vegetable material, more or less as sewage sludge, will decay easily, commercially, from a compost pile.

It is important to add humus and sand with clay or silt with sand. Both together produce a good soil, but together they often produce an extremely hard composition.

"THE POST," LINDSAY, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 13TH, 1956

Pantomime "African Panorama" Presented by Woodville WMS

Woodville — The regular course monthly meeting of the afternoon auxiliary W.M.S. of Woodville United Church was held in the church hall on June 10th.

A letter was read giving the contents and sum of summer courses available at Five Oaks Camp Al Paris this year for workers in church organizations and members invited to consider it.

An invitation was received from the Edon Branch W. M. S. to be their annual picnic on June 17th.

This demands that leaves and grasses be removed from the soil, so water which is not held in the soil can penetrate the soil and escape and allow air to enter.

It is important to remove weeds and cultivate, slow to allow roots to penetrate the soil. In the spring something should be added to the soil to help it hold moisture.

Beginning gardeners are often perplexed about what to do with a few inches of "black dirt."

Even if you have a garden, you need to know how to care for the foundation of the new home, that is the wrong solution.

Forget about the soil, because it concentrates on its sponsor, a garden. You can add humus, black, yellow, or red, will give root life to the soil.

At the other extreme are soils in which there is too much sand. These are sometimes too porous to hold water and may not hold food, but letting everything go.

Both types of soil need some treatment. The best way to add decayed vegetable material, more or less as sewage sludge, will decay easily, commercially, from a compost pile.

It is important to add humus and sand with clay or silt with sand. Both together produce a good soil, but together they often produce an extremely hard composition.

Instead of sand, however, limestone can be mixed with clay, because limestone reacts with water and causes the clay particles to expand, creating a porous aggregate which will retain moisture, while allowing air and water free.

Do not be afraid to use crushed stone, because it will not affect the clay soil harmfully.

It is important to add lime, especially which prevents lime salt.

All the material used to improve your soil should be mixed together, so that the lime and organic materials go into sandy soil, also, they should be mixed with the topsoil, so plant food for the plants to use.

It is important to mix the lime and organic materials together, so that the lime does not burn away.

Then dig a fine soil conditioner, and if planted sensibly it is a difficult choice. Mark the area to be treated and divide into sections, one for each section, and then plant the area, until you become hardened.

Sprayed material to be sprayed

Begin by opening a trench at least 12 inches wide and 12 inches deep, throwing the soil to one side, and mark a pile nearby.

Then dig an adjacent trench, so that the distance between the two is equal to the length of the first trench. Continue this until the entire area has been treated at frequent intervals.

Fill the final trench with manure, then lay the first. Drive the road straight across the area, so that the length of the blade, and turn the blade so that the soil will be best at the front.

Turn the blade so that the best kind of soil is produced for a small garden.

Mr. Fred Baker, who was asked of any of his words, means benediction and much stored knowledge.

Do It Lightly With One Eye Out For The Law—Chairman

"If you must carry your initials in the net payment on Kent St., do not make them too large. They can't be read from a distance."

This was the request of the Board of Works Chairmen J. C. Holton who was commenting on the great number of signs which have recently been carried into the new sidewalk.

He said that if the initials are ever a temptation to the police, it would be difficult for the registrars to remove them.

Mr. Holton also commented on the speed, with which the McFarland Construction Co. crews paved the street last Friday.

He said: "It's been a week and a half and by noon the road was paved and rolled, ready for traffic."

The spectator said the movement of the paving crews was so rapid that he had to walk along the street like a bee with each man knowing exactly where he was to do.

He said that he felt it had been a very efficient job and that every job well organized.

Another mile of sidewalk will be put in by the Lindsay Public School Board before the end of the month.

Mr. Holton said the work is almost finished, with only one year's supply left.

The first part of the programme was given over to the very junior members, one who had just turned 10 years old, and one who had just turned 11.

One member, a 10-year-old, had just started at what had been announced.

First, there had been a musical number, including a solo vocal, instrumental and performance, to numbers by the advanced students.

One of the highlights of which was the singing of the Kwanzaa Praise.

After the singing, the audience marvelled at the talents of the charming, versatile pianist.

Pupil from Robertson, Penel Falls, Cobden, Cameron, Kinmount, and the Muskoka River took part in the programme, which was varied with vocal solo by Mrs. Blanche Watson and Fly Webster, and a violin solo "Cavatina" in G Major by Shirley. One solo piece, "Glorious," was performed by a scatological dancer by Carol Ann Purdy.

Proceeds of the evening were $1,000 and the High School Band.

A. E. Silverwood's Life History Given In Press Brochure

The Post has received a brochure from International Press Ltd., publishers of "Who's Who in Canada" which contains a photograph of one of the country's more famous industrialists — Albert Edward Silverwood, M.L.A.

Mr. Silverwood, who is chairman of the board of the dairy which bears his name, was born in 1886 at Wainfleet, Ontario, and died in Lindsay in 1935.

He was 49 years old when he died.

At the time of his death he had dropped below 50 the highest reading, and the coldest night in Lindsay since the winter of 1935, when the thermometer touched 31°.

Lindsay had a total of 8.6 inches of rain in May, and the average for the month was 5.5 inches. There was thus just 4.1 inches. Therefore it was almost double year.

Receive Diplomas

Mrs. Anna Brown, daughter of Mr. S. G. Beaumont, of Beaverfoot and Vernon, Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Watson, of Lindsay, were among the graduates who received their diplomas recently at the graduation exercises at the Soldiers' Memorial Hospital, Orléans recently. Miss Watson received the bursary provided by surgical patients in her class.

Quirk:

A 50-year-old Chicago man died in a barn — but not because he fell off a horse.

Raymond Hurd ran into a group of boys at Lake Michigan, swam and dived three times into the lake.

But when he was up, he was not moving. Police said Hurd's diving by a seagull apparently caused him to drown.

But the diver was a mason, one who had been helping to lay the floor to court for charges of disorderly conduct.

Thought for Weekend

"And though I've lost all my power to feel the poor, and though I give my body to be bound, yet still I have not charity; if perhaps me nothing."

— St. Paul, 1 Cor. 13:3. If we lack charity, snatched not, shamed vaunted not, it is not pulled up. — C. Corinthian 13:3.

Vерулам Council
Defers Resolution

A meeting of the municipal council of the Township of Verulam was held in the municipal office on Friday evening, June 1, at 7:30 o'clock p.m. with the Reeve, Mr. George Kennedy, and Councillors McLean, McRae, and Sheriff and Kennedy in attendance.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved by motion of Mr. McRae, seconded by Mr. Sheriff.

Correspondence was read from the Mayor of St. John's Ambulance and the Salvation Army thanking council for their gift of $100.00. A letter was received from the Association of Mayors and Reeves advising of their meeting on June 1st, at the District High School. Area Board, advising of additions to the school board. Mr. Phil Bell, of Bell's, advised of an estimated cost of $37,000.00 and requested that this amount pass at the present time, as the amount will be increased when a bond is issued.

Mr. Brett, representing the High School Area Board, addressed the meeting and explained the reasons for the need of extra money, which was voted by a large majority in attendance.

This was left over for the present and it was the general opinion that the portion east of Verulam would be about $27,000.00 although there is no definite figure in the population of this township.

Mr. Earl Pitts again called to discuss the proposed road through the area west of Greenhurst. He agreed to provide the necessary road through but declined (1941) to contribute with his roadway along the lake into plan 210.

As a result of the discussion, a motion was passed that the matter be referred to the Ministry of Transportation. It was moved by Mr. Kennedy, seconded by Mr. McRae, that the Clerk sign the necessary documents to make the application to the Ministry.

By Law No. 132, a by-law amending an Assessment and setting the remuneration thereof, was duly passed.

No motion was made by Mr. White, seconded by Mr. Sheriff, general accounts as presented were passed for payment.

No motion was made by Mr. Ward, seconded by Mr. Kennedy, to reduce amounts owing to the Township of Verulam.

The Road Superintendent reported that the road constructed in 1940, Royal, was in good condition. The Supervisor of the Township of Franklin, and the Supervisor of the Township of Verulam, Boundary Road from Highway No. 33 to the Ontario line.

Read inspection was set for Friday and Saturday, June 5th and 6th, 1946, at Nine O'Clock a.m.

Sure Of Backlog

The future looks good for the women of the little town of Rockchase, Minnesota. The town has a population of about 18 to 21, largely because it is the site of a large military camp. Now the Chamber of Commerce has announced it will expand its plant to employ 1,000 persons, and increase its payroll to $100,000 per cent of the present figure.

Special Customer

Jill Sherry, of Stonybrook, New York, is one customer who has been a special customer for many years. She took out $100 life insurance policy 20 years ago. Miss Sherry is now 70 years old. "I took out the policy when I was 18, and from that time until now, there has always been a claim on my policy," says Miss Sherry still does all her own housework. "If we could get all her help, we would have more time to live." Miss Sherry still does all her own housework. "If we could get all her help, we would have more time to live."

Request Tip

Here is something you might like to learn for your lovely bedroom. You can make a simple, effective, soft modelling clay under a lower cover to help to hold it firmly. Then paint the top surface with lacquer. Or, you can buy holders in our shops with little sharp points which hold the corners. The bottom of them are heavy and the heads won't tip over.

Lights And Lamps

Another tip for you... if your furniture is light in color it will show up best against darker walls. So far as lamps are concerned, you can buy holders in our shops with little sharp points which hold the corners. The bottom of them are heavy and the heads won't tip over.

Hair Trends

For the past few months, instead of having your hair dressed up in a clip or a comb, we believe it looks better. Well, we believe it looks better, anyway, for any occasion when it comes to our hair. THE FANTASY EVENT
At Hair Display

The German (Haidresser) Show was recently at Frankfort, Germany, and showed what the up-to-date — or fantasy event. The style on show was very good, and the girls were given a free hand to do anything which they desired. The style on the young girls was very good, and the judges picked the winner by the crowd. It was nicknamed "Frog King."

Our Own and Other Opinions

THESE RECOMMEND THEMSELVES

There are now about 200 species of them, their breathing being noisy, ready need no one to speak for them—they speak for themselves. The effort which has gone into making these attractive flower beds has done a remarkable service at the same time. It is not only the beauty of the flowers, was, and their attractiveness is indicative of skill and painstaking labor which warrants highest praise for the management and staff of the Lindsay Parks Board.

Those who have attempted to grow flowers, even on a very small scale, soon become conscious of the amount of labor required not only to plant them, but to ensure that the seeds don't eat up the flowers. Of course, it may be argued that these men are paid to do this job. But pay in a work such as this doesn't ensure good results—lower costs and labor savings are generally called for among men to produce successful results.

There must be a genuine affection for the good earth and what it produces combined with care, planning and constant attention.

We have heard innumerable people comment on the beauty of the flower beds and we are sure everyone shares the pride which must be felt by the Parks Board in its achievement. These lovely flowers and other park improvements are, for many, their closest contact with nature and by developing our natural assets we make available pleasures and benefits which cannot be measured by money. Who is there that has not been marvelled at the intricate pattern of the most humble flower or gained new perspective by observing some of nature's other creations?

ON THE OTHER HAND . . .

Lindsay's Council has acquired and is fixing up a parking lot on Cambridge St. for the benefit of the town's business section and the parking problem in the downtown area, in the light of comments made in the "Truro Daily News" on June 17th, it would appear that the town has been extremely generous when its action is measured by that of other municipalities.

Read more about other and/or maritime centres vis' vis' this matter.

Parking Areas Are Not Town's Responsibility

The Truro Council is again studying the feasibility of removing the gray oval on the Esplanade to provide an extra parking area for shoppers in the central business district.

The request comes from a merchant in the area, whom we feel, is expressing the feeling of many of the merchants in the area.

In this day and age when everyone looks to the government to provide everything, whether it be the federal, provincial, or civic government, we can appreciate the thinking behind this request.

But, from the point of view of the town providing parking areas for any group of ratepayers is wrong. If the merchants in any particular area of town need parking areas to accommodate their customers, they should be prepared to provide these themselves.

We feel that the town has done well for the merchants in the central business section in providing a parking area on the school grounds. Nothing has been done in this regard for the merchants of the West end of town, and we know of one merchant in the West end who pays rent for a parking area for his customers.

This business of the need for parking areas has plagued the Council for the past 10 years or more, and it is our study that it is up to the town to provide these areas. We are not in favour of this, but that these merchants should provide their own. It isn't any more right that the gray oval on the Esplanade should be removed to accommodate the central section merchants than it is that Victoria Square should be eliminated to provide parking space in the downtown area, or that a merchant be permitted to set up shop in Victoria Park where there is ample parking space.

The Truro Board of Trade at the moment has under study a town planning and zoning project which will be submitted to the members of the Board of Trade. This is an open meeting of the Board of Trade. Adequate parking areas have to be planned for in advance as the town grows and the number of motor vehicles increases. The trend is most up-to-date cities is to have parking entirely on private property.

If permission of the town is to be had for parking areas for their customers, then the town is looking around the neighborhood to see if land for this purpose might be purchased for this purpose in the near future. It could be done on a co-operative basis as is done in other cities, such as Halifax.

On the other hand, we feel that the town should be asked to be an integral part of any municipality and they are faced with extraordinary problems these days . . . the supermarket, for example, with its ability to provide super parking facilities without prolonged negotiations and attract business away from established areas. We feel that the town should take steps to display its initiative in providing parking accommodation before there is an apparent need for a cooperative approach to the problem which has intensified with the increase in motor travel.

MOSQUITOES, INC.

Mosquitoes are cosmopolitan, authorities say, only a few oceanic islands, deserts and arid zones being free from them. Peacock, writing after a long stay in Mexico City, says, however, that he found mosquitoes living in the desert, and, moreover, even if it is not cosmopolitan. The principal human around town and country this week has been to invent new stories about the size and greed of this June's crop of the insect.

One man swearsthat the double-pumper RCAF helicopter which twirled over the city on Tuesday was actually two disengaged from RCAF tanks. In a huff, he claims. The fat pigeons which sit on the crest of the old Post Office has been identified as one of the dippus family Cicadidae—that is a mosquito. Some claim that the most vicious of the insects have arrived from the Pacific in the wake of H-bomb tests. This story at least seems fair-fetched, for mosquitoes almost never go high altitude.

It is no consolation to have wily British neurosurgeons to be told by entomologists that the blood-sucking habit of mosquitoes is an acquired one and is a relatively unimportant factor in the lives of the majority of mosquitoes. The only palliative to this week's bite is that the —yes—there are those who seem to be immune to them. The manufacturer who can devise mosquito-proof nylon stockings will be blessed by the ladies than the inventor of the permanent wave. The blottches you see this weekend on fair legs are not imperfections in the nylons but mosquito punctures, smeared with iodine to remove the itch.

A MANUFACTURER SOUNDS A WARNING

"Do not want to enter into the inevitable debate about which came first, the wage rise or the price rise; nor do I want to expand on the thesis that wage rises are only justified by productivity improvement. But do I want to say that our national independence of oil is the most important factor in our being able to vital to the expansion of purchasing power and that management can keep fattening the rate each year for the rest of time is exactly the same as national acceptance of a permanent economy of creeping inflation."

In sounding this warning in the cause of his professional addressed to the Canadian Council of the Canadian Manufacturers Association in Toronto during the past week, T. A. Rice, retiring president pointed out that spokesmen for unionized labour would seem to be stuck with the theory of the need for the annual wage boost, "even though all the evidence of history substantiates the fact, that wherever and whenever money wages have been increased above the level of producible cost has been embankment of the currency."

Canada, the CMA president stated would be doubly affected by an accentuation of the inflationary trend. Not only, he pointed out, would it nullify wage gains, but it could threaten even further the ability of Canada's manufacturers to compete in both the domestic and export markets.

The speaker stressed the fact that he had no desire to lay the blame for the possibility of further inflation on the doorstep of organized labour. Both management and government, he pointed out, have in some ways had their share in creating inflation, alone; and the consequences are serious. He said, "I am afraid to publicise, he said, "wake up to the fact that it is their pocket which will be picked if persistent inflation becomes the order of each and every day."

It is good that warnings such as these should be sounded at this time. We in Canada have come to take too much for granted in our economic situation. We have enjoyed during past five years weaknesses in the economy, have been widely ignored, despite the fact that they have been drawn to our attention time after time by those who are in a position to read the signs. Not the least of these weaknesses is the vulnerability of our economy to inflation; and in this week spot it could be our undoing should inflation be permitted to get the upper hand.

COUNCILS NEED EARLY NOTICE

Woodstock's City Council has adopted a resolution which municipalities throughout the province will do but expect.

It says out that it is necessary for the Provincial Government to amend statutes from time to time and that municipalities are affected, financially and otherwise, by changes involving their powers and authority, Woodstock's Council declares:

"Therefore, it is resolved that the Provincial Government be requested to make available such information, as far as practicable, to the municipalities when legislation is being proposed which directly affects municipalities."

It is a sensible request when it is practical. Changes in the system of grants can easily affect municipal budgets. Changes to legislation may increase, or decrease, a municipality's responsibilities. It is important that municipalities should be informed of such changes as soon as possible.

It may also always be feasible for the Government to seek the advice of municipalities, in such cases it would be of substantial assistance to municipal administration if the Government were to enact legislation affecting municipalities at the earliest opportunity to permit them to take necessary action in good time.

THE FOUNT FROM MARS IS BACK!

The flying saucers are back, only this time it's a flying circus of saucers. The report continues from Argentina where a government engineer and reporter claim to have seen a gigantic cigar-shaped object moving through the air "at tremendous speed." The cigar, they estimated, was a thousand feet long.

This could be the beginning of what are called "flying saucers" or "flying discs" or "flying things" which somehow get into the newspapers—a travel-wear circuit (using its own front door after two years and 70 miles), the champion watercolor artist of Georgia challenging the watercolor-swinging world, a chap who takes up running in a tree, and says he won't come down until he reaches the ground, the sale of Chesse Queso and Antiochico Principe, the fellow who is walking around the earth to give his pet caterry an airing—the list is endless.

Argentina gives the dog days an added twist with the story of the giant pampas slugs which have eaten their way from the Argentine to Mercury on an epicurean tour of our several regions. The saucers of older years have grown up.

Loyalty Dinner Launches Church Hall Campaign

Say Workers Will Offer Services In Hospital Expansion Drive

Seven men, all retired and organized into teams with captains and division leaders, were introduced at a meeting of the organization to raise funds for the building of the proposed church hall at Cambridge St. United Church, at the "Loyalty Dinner" held in the Legion Hall on "Thursday evening."

Mr. Charles Ferguson announced the organization with the following interesting announcement: "These men are preparing to go to the Hospital Board to insist on their expansion campaign which will be completed when the new plan of the hospital when the canvas is completed."

Mr. Ferguson reviewed the canvas plans and said that the new plan will be the result of the need for prayerfully considered scientific planning, payable off in the long run.

Mr. John Clarke, Toronto director of Hospital Councils, was present and emphasized that the canvassing period would be intensive and that their expansion campaign will be a success.

Mr. Clarke's speech was followed by a general discussion of the needs of the hospital.

Mr. Walter V. Peet also addressing the 300 in attendance gave a review of the hospital history over the past 12 years.

Mr. H. E. Staples spoke on "Our Past" and said that the time had come when the children should graduate into valuable young people and members of the community.

Mr. A. C. McMillan, president of an associate Sunday School with a hall in conjunction with the school, which would be built in interest, was present.

Mr. H. A. Palfreyman explained how the campaign would be conducted as a spiritualistic service.

The campaign will be conducted by stating that "pledges of $25,000 will be given to the hospital by the end of the year."

Mr. H. A. Palfreyman explained how the campaign would be conducted by the request of the late Mr. T. C. Clayton for the provision of equipment and supplies for the proposed church hall, to be used for his benefit of the young people. He said, "Mr. Clayton's desire was that the campaign be a success but also a challenge that the members of Cambridge St. church would meet."

Premier Lester M. Frost realized the problem of the management of the church hall and the proposed hall, especially at the time of operation, in the 20's, but said it is difficult to imagine that the perseverance and efforts of the congregation, he felt, definitely aided in the success of the hall.

Mr. Frost said that the proposed hall would also be used and carried to completion by the church hall and charge every event today, he stated that, "The growth and development of the proposed hall is one of those necessities. It is the responsibility of the church to provide this forward."

Dr. Harold B. Neel expressed a hearty endorsement of the campaign for its attendance and inspiring message.

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Legion, the Ladies Auxiliary to the Legion, and the Legion Auxiliary, to the Legion, entered to the splendid dinner.

The chairman for the function was John Clinton.

SCOTTISH RITE MEMBERS PREVIEW WONDERS OF WORLD OF TOMORROW

Members of the Scottish Rite Club were given a brilliantly demonstrated glimpse of the wonders, to come in the world of tomorrow by a man who had a wealth of firsthand information on the subject. Mr. Ian McNab, public supervisor for Ontario has substance to back up his claims of the future. He said that man has substance for a brief interlude into the promising future of solar power. Using an array of slides, he demonstrated his ability to produce more power for a small machine. He recommended that the power be used to successfully harness to provide power on a large scale in the future.

The most interesting information was in the realm of medical research. Taking a couple of small bags of powder, Mr. McNab demonstrated Mudefix's product, a mask of synthetic rubber.

Others Say ..

THE ORIOLES

The orioles meet high and the man of the family meets at the end of time with song. Some say the oriole is not much of a singer, though nearly everybody grants him a good voice. But it's difficult to read the song alone, for beyond a few basic notes common to all orioles there is a vast variety of songs among them. The songs of each oriole are sufficiently different from each to be recognized, and anyone with even a moderately keen ear can recognize the characteristic calls of an individual oriole. No oriole has the range of notes or the scope of invention of, say, a catbird, but any oriole does very well for any attentive listener.

The oriole's high art, of course, is nest-building. The oriole is a weaver and rigger of considerable skill. It isn't the male, the singer, who does the weaving, though; it's the female, who isn't much of a singer. But, between them, any pair of orioles has an unusual supply of artistic ability.

The whole oriole family is talented, but those we know best are the Baltimore orioles. And the name has nothing to do with the bird's range; it breeds and nests over a large part of the United States. From Nova Scotia to Texas, from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico south through Central America. The Baltimore part of the name comes only from the orange and black of the bird's plumage, which were the traditional family colors of Lord Baltimore. Wherever they live, the orioles are pleasant neighbors, full of song, colorful and hungry for caterpillars and beetle grubs. Good companions, any way you judge them.

SECRETS NEED

Scarcely a week goes by without some person prominent in business, public affairs or education making gloomy note of the failure of the North American educational system to produce the scientific and technical needed to keep our country strong. This was the theme of the speech made at the recent meeting of the Canadian Manufacturer's Association by Crawford Gordon Jr., president of A. V. Roe Canada Limited. And instead of merely bewailing the situation, Mr. Gordon announced that in September his company would sponsor a broad conference on scientific and engineering management.

All too often, complaints about the inadequate numbers of engineers being graduated from North American schools are directed to the belief that the blame lies with the universities. But what is being overlooked is what is happening in Canada and the United States. Simply to equal or surpass the Russian rate means nothing. The question to be answered is: are we producing enough properly trained minds to keep our society growing in strength and vigor? Clearly we are not. There is no answer more logical than to find out why. How can we solve this production problem? Politicians have ducked the query. Educators have been fumbling with it.

Let us hope that more progress will be made at such conferences as that sponsored by A.V.R. because a solution must be found.

It may be, however, if the conference conference confines itself to the technical requirements of society. The need is not simply for engineers and scientists, but for many more men and women who can see beyond the machines, the bridges and the steel. It is the people for whom benefit these things are designed — men and women of unquenchable intellectual curiosity, whose imaginations have been disciplined but not stifled.

Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin had suffered further heart operations and was found necessary to remain in hospital for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin are still in hospital where he is still a patient.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie W. McNeil accompanied by her parents, Mr.

and Mrs. Tom Whitfield of Penetanguishene, were here to visit their sister, Mrs. Eustella Whitfield, and Mr. Edward Earl of Penetanguishene, were here to visit their son, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Jones of St. Paul's Anglican Church, West Toronto, on Monday.

The newlyweds returned home from their honeymoon in the States leaving to make their home in St. Paul's.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hargrave learned with regret that the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hargrave, Karen, while on the way to the hospital in Lindsay on Sunday, had a miscarriage. In some cases, however, the miscarriage and Karen was thrown from her car.

Luckily she was thrown on the side of the road and not on the front of the Ross Hospital with a nasty gash requiring a number of stitches in the head. She is now recovering well.

Mr. and Mrs. Hargrave left Oshawa before leaving to make their home in St. Paul's.

Mr. Keith Hargrave, accompanied by Mrs. Hargrave and daughter Karen, were here to visit their son, Mr. and Mrs. John and Anne Jones, open Saturday in Toronto, where Anna Jones and Keith will be visiting their son, Mr. and Mrs. John Jones, who will be starting his second term when the school opens early in July.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nicholson were glad to learn she was able to return home on Wednesday after spending a week in the Lindsay General Hospital, and later the Ross Hospital in Lindsay due to a bronchial infection. Her condition, I hope, is improving.

It was learned recently that Mrs. Mary and Mr. and Mrs. John and Anne of Oshawa, but now residing with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John and Anne Jones, had the misfortune to fall ill at their home.

She suffered a fractured hip and is now confined to bed.

Friends sincerely hope she won't be left up for so long a period following her unfortunate accident.

Our Own and Other Opinions

HURRYING HOME ...

During the past week we have had occasion to learn of a number of school pupils who have been home after getting something that they forgot and making an all-out effort to complete the trip without being late. From available information, it would appear that any pupil who is late for school has to go through some sort of formalities before resuming their place in class, and, rather than do this if something is forgotten, they often try to make up the time as much as possible.

It is understandable that the schools must have some method of keeping tab on students but it seems that the great haste engendered by such circumstances as outlined above might prove disastrous in some instances. It would be more practicable to request that a child be allowed to remain home if essential to the school day be asked to make this known before going back home, and then be advised to proceed with dispatch but not haste!

Instead, we believe, still makes for waste.

A DRAGGING OPERATION

ISN'T A PRETTY SIGHT

On Wednesday afternoon when it was feared that a small boy had drowned in the Scugog River near what is referred to as "the old chemical plant". Dragging operations were carried on for several hours during which a small "knot" of spectators gathered to watch the procedure all night long.

Among the spectators was a representative of "The Post" and for him like members of the police and fire departments it was a grim spectacle. The fire department's rescue boat plied the river in the area of the presumed drowning, casting out the drag line, hauling it in periodically when it "snagged" on something, then pulling it free or fallen limb and then repeating the procedure all night again.

As we watched from our riverbank a bit of the dragging did something to us. Of course we had seen it all before but watching this sort of thing is one of many of us never become entirely "hardened" to.

And as time went on we were struck with the thought that those who are tempted to become indifferent to the whereabouts and welfare of their children, especially those who may easily remember Scugog, might have a chance of heart if they, too, were to witness the next dragging operation in Lindsay.

A dragging operation isn't a pretty sight!

KEEP HIM IN THERE!

"Keep him in there" seems to be the slogan of too many Lindsay motorists when they see a fellow driver trying to break into a line of traffic or in an otherwise difficult traffic situation. Evidence of bad driving manners is altogether too prevalent in Lindsay and it is high time that the motoring public took stock of their behaviour behind the wheel.

Courtesy is one of the diminishing number of things we have at our disposal which costs nothing to acquire and nothing to dispense. Why be reluctant to utilize it?

WE SEEM TO BE IN A RUT

We seem to be in some kind of a rut when it comes to the ways and means of laying the dust on Lindsay's dirt roads, particularly to one of the tar mixtures. Doesn't it seem reasonable that the advancement in the field of science that some simple dust-laying formula hasn't been derived which could be applied with a minimum of inconvenience and a maximum of effectiveness?

In the meantime it has been respectfully suggested that the application of the present dust-laying layer (a tar product) in Lindsay might be replaced in a way which would produce less residue to those having to use the tarred roads. "The Post" was asked this week why it wouldn't be better if the town just had to do half of a street at a time, allowing it to dry and then resurface the remainder. This would bring both sides at once and leaving drivers no choice but to go through it. We were inclined to agree that there might be ways of applying the dust-layer which would reduce the messiness of the maneuver.

Another perennial problem concerns the late date at which the snows melt in Lindsay. This is invariably a long period each year during which drivers and residents are plagued by dust before the relief is applied. We believe that with a adequate study of the situation many of the anomalies could be overcome.

Perhaps one town engineer, who has shown an ability to get things done, may be able to arrive at a solution to the dust-laying problem which will meet with popular approval.

RISING HOSPITAL COSTS

In 1946 it cost general hospitals $9.39 a day for short-term care of an average patient. By 1954 the cost had risen to $12.76, an increase of 132 per cent. In contrast, the Consumer Price Index increased only 77.6 per cent. The same was true in 1955 when the Consumer Index was rising 6.5 per cent annually ... the cost of caring for a patient in a hospital has been increased by 7 per cent annually. Here we have one of the most disturbing aspects of an unresolved problem in providing medical care at a reasonable cost.

The recent statement of Dr. Roy Becker at least, one by Roy E. Brown, a participant in the meeting of Chicago's hospital association, appears in the journal of the American Hospital Association; the other, by Harry Becker of the Bible Cross, was presented at the Middle Atlantic Hospital Assembly.

The two reports are in substantial agreement. Both present the same argument concerning the cost of medical care. Thus as industry can lower costs by mechanizing its processes, so can hospitals. As medical standards rise hospitals need more skilled personnel, which means a rise in costs. The need will increase as the population increases and ages. In industry bigger wages and salaries can be offset in whole or in part by higher productivity. Hospitals have no such escape.

Dr. Lovett, Congresswoman of the 1st District of Chicago would establish "hospital hotels" for convalescents and other patients who could look after themselves. Mr. Becker would pay more attention to home care for patients who can be considered ambulatory. It is his contention that hospitals and convalescent homes will have to integrate their functions and increase the amount of hospital care is to be kept within bounds. As it is, the public knows more about the administration and economics of the United States Steel Corporation than of a great voluntary hospital.

INSECTS BY THE THOUSANDS

A recent report from the Department of Agriculture in Ottawa listed 100,000 species of insects in Canada's national parks and forests. That figure added that new species are being discovered each day.

While many Canadians consider insects as bothersome creatures of interest only to bug collectors, the fact is they pose a great economic problem to the nation. Administrators of many useful insects which would be destroyed by the use of insecticides, which cause damage to the country's rural economy.

According to current statistics the annual loss in livestock and field crop production in Canada attributed directly to insects is in the neighborhood of $12,000,000,000.

Sales Salads

The home-furnishing industry likes to say that it's for business reasons. The executive vice-president of the retail furniture association of Canada says his wife drives their parents into redecorating the home. When girls get married, parents like to think they start putting the finishing on their parents' to make their homes look better. And when the family grows, it becomes an important reason why families buy new furniture.

According to studies in elementary schools we are more liable to have accidents at home than in school or office. Statistics show that it is no whether you believe it or not, but that we are more likely to have an accident at home. We made a study of home accidents and fatalities among industrial workers in Ontario between the years of 1950 to 1954. The study shows (as many men as women do) that there were more deaths at home than in the office. It would seem that it is time to take the credit for your refinements if it is coming this way. Perhaps the house men stayed the night because we were a different story.

Then there was the new living room made of paper and chemicals on the American market. It's a good idea, but I hope if we sit long enough we may begin to feel sick. We may use it for cleaners, sweeteners, and cosmetics. When we are in the kitchen we must touch the settee, so we would wonder how anyone could possibly be safe in the house.

Perhaps we're prejudiced... but I looked just twice to one who was not prejudiced.

Rooms For Rent

By Dorothy Boys Kilian

HONEY, YOU DON'T really think you can rent these rooms for the summer do you? Dick Shupe, still in his green coveralls, frowned as he found his party. "I'm sorry, Honey, but the wide-board floor in an upstairs bedroom, meeding a bed, cost us $25."

"Margaret, stand up slowly," he said. "We planted a kiss plant on the window sill. We have to have some quiet things for our first baby, don't we, darling?" And that talk money—such a good idea! "I'll pay."

"Maybe I could take another job in the evenings," she suggested. "Wg. Dick, you're exhausted when you come home from the garage, and sometimes you don't even get here until eight or nine."

"Well, Honey, I know what business means no money and no time. But this house your mother tells us has more rooms than we need, so why not?"

But just look at the furniture! Dick's eyes were wide in general. "I see that in those wooden pieces there are some who dare make a prison bar pattern on one side and a chair back on the other. And that bed's so high you have to climb up to climb into it, and that wash stand—"

"I think it's all right," quipped Margaret. "And I'd be mighty glad to have you stay with us."

"Well, Honey, I'm not the only one who's been here before," Dick said, smiling. "People are anxious to get away, and besides, think where we've located practically. It's only a mile from the opposite end of town from the lake, and the water's so clear."

"It's nice and quiet, though," Margaret added.

Dick shuddered. "I give up. But I hate to see you slaving away like that."

"Oh, well, the doctor says I mustn't sit around too much," Margaret said soothingly.

"There's the doorbell. I'll get it." Dick went to the door and opened it, downing.

A tall, pipe-smoking old gentleman stood on the porch. "This is the Shupe residence?"

"Yes, sir," Dick looked pugnaciously past him to the long shiny black car parked in front of the house.

"May I speak with Mrs. Shupe?"

"I'm Mrs. Shupe," Margaret called from the top of the stairs. "Come in, Mr. ——"

"I'm sorry, I've got the wrong house," he said.

"You have some rooms for rent?"

"Yes, sir, we do. Come in, we'll show them to you," Margaret answered.

Dick, somewhat dejected, a few steps overhead. He decided as he took a seat in the living room and imagined Mrs. Frost's first view of his home.

"I wonder if she'll like it," he said to himself.

"I wonder if she'll like it," he said again.

"I wonder if she'll like it," he said once more.

"I wonder if she'll like it," he said again.
